Nicholas F. Rinaldo is a Florida Supreme Court Certified Circuit Civil Mediator. After three decades of being a driven, committed, and tireless advocate for thousands of clients in need, Mr. Rinaldo now devotes his entire law practice to providing mediation services throughout the State of Florida.

A fourth generation resident of Tampa, Florida, Mr. Rinaldo attended H.B. Plant High School and graduated with a Bachelor of Science in Journalism from the University of Florida. He received his Juris Doctor Degree from Stetson University College of Law where he was awarded the American Jurisprudence for Academic Excellence

Mr. Rinaldo utilizes his extensive experience as a trial attorney to impartially facilitate alternative dispute resolution through a mutually acceptable and voluntary agreement between opposing parties involved in litigation or other conflicts. Mr. Rinaldo's direct but relaxed style reduces obstacles to communication while assisting in the identification of issues and exploration of viable alternatives. He guides the parties and their counsel through an in depth consideration of the strengths and weaknesses of their case, including the costs, potential pitfalls, risks and uncertainties inherent in an litigation or legal conflict.

Mr. Rinaldo is a staunch believer in alternative dispute resolution. Litigation involves much more than monetary considerations. There is an extensive human toll that is exacted from the parties as well. Litigation often takes years to resolve and thousands of dollars in costs to prepare the case and ultimately present it to an unpredictable jury. Alternatively, mediation can result in a satisfactory Compromise with minimal expense and inconvenience in just a matter of hours.
