Tisa Legal Media provides industry leading services in the growing digital world of litigation technology. As research suggests, nonverbal behavior is the most crucial aspect of all daily communication. A video recorded deposition captures the slightest inflection, body language, emotion, hesitancy and overall demeanor of a witness that would otherwise go undetected using only the written word. Therefore, a compelling visual argument has become an essential part of the litigation process. At Tisa Legal Media, we understand that we are, “the eyes and ears of the jury.” Our legal videographers, trained to CLVS standards, are storytellers who use video as a means to disclose vital information that can be key to winning your case.
