◆ My education is from College of Marin, CA, accredited court reporting program, 2002-2008.

◆ My preference sheet, which serves as a continuous record of court reporter feedback, is ready with Lillian Morson's rules in bold.

◆ My rates are industry standard, in line with a 2010 Yahoo scopist survey.

◆ My goal is to return the cleanest transcript with your preferences.

◆ My work experience includes depositions, court proceedings, both criminal and civil.

Turn around is four to seven days. Unlike some scopists, I do work on weekends.

I am PayPal verified, the preferred payment method due to its ease and reliability.

My rates include the fact that I define untranslates, which are returned to the court reporter then to be entered into her/his personal dictionary. As time goes on, both reporter and scopist benefit from that extra step by building the reporter's dictionary. Having a great translation rate is the result of a dictionary that translates "the good, the bad, and the ugly"; especially advantageous for roughs, expedites and during real-time.

My aspiration is to establish a long-lasting scopist-court reporter professional partnership.
